

NADA PRIVACY POLICY

Your contact information is being collected for the purposes of contacting members for organizing NADA events and for informing members of upcoming issues, events, meetings.

Only the Board of Directors has access to your full contact information. If a membership contact book is developed, only the contact information which you give us permission will be included in the book. The membership contact book will only be distributed to NADA members.

Members' contact information is not sold nor is it distributed to third parties. In agility, general assessment results are recorded to assist in determining class enrolments and planning. The only individuals with access to this information are the agility training committee members and the club secretary for class enrolment management purposes only. Information regarding Dog Safety & Control Policy is collected by the club, and is maintained by the Training Committee and the Board of Directors. This information is not used for any purpose other than those specifically outlined in the Dog Safety & Control Policy. Any member has the right to review his or her information records that the club may maintain to ensure accuracy. The President should be informed of any discrepancies found in the records for correction.
